

Benefit Accounts Receivable by Simplifying the Process through Multi-Option Delivery

Derby, UK — July 16, 2015 — Esker, a worldwide leader in document process automation solutions, and SAP® software solution and technology partner, is delighted to announce its presence at this year's Office Supplies Credit Forum being held at Experian Ltd, Nottingham, 22nd July 2015.

During this forum, industry experts will cover some of the key challenges facing companies' financial operations today, specifically: how to improve Accounts Receivable (AR) by automating invoice delivery and ensuring both the authenticity and integrity of the document, as well as archiving both electronic and paper-based invoices. Esker will demonstrate how to gain significant business benefits by simplifying the AR process through multi-option delivery.

Managing Director of Esker Northern Europe, Alistair Nicholas, along with the Technical Director of Esker Northern Europe, Wynne Jones, will discuss and demonstrate how Esker can help streamline document processes across an organisation through automation and bring a wide range of business benefits. Giving customers the option to receive documents such as invoices, in a number of different formats and having full visibility along the audit trail bringing benefits to both the customer and their customers.

Esker will also look at being able to make the process totally transparent by giving the choice to customers regarding the way in which their documents are delivered, help in speeding up payment processes, improve customer satisfaction, reduce the number of queries made, decrease overall handling time and cut the cost of document delivery.

If customers are not quite ready to receive electronic correspondence then the ability to use a mail service can allow the mailing of business documents directly from an application for worldwide delivery to postal services in less than 24 hours. Without hardware or software, mail is processed and handed off to the postal service nearest to the recipient from any of Esker's global mail facilities.

Alistair Nicholas, Managing Director of Esker Northern Europe went on to explain, "For an organisation or department to suddenly go from mainly manual to entirely electronic processes within business functions such as AR, may present huge challenges. However, Esker works with companies to deliver an individually tailored solution. So if the best starting point for the customer is 30% automation, progressing to, say, 60% before reaching 100% automation, then that is the kind of bespoke service we offer – which, in turn, delivers extra benefits for customers by providing real agility for business processes. Plus, the customer has the extra advantage that the entire service is provided by one supplier; rather than engaging different providers for point-to-point solutions and incurring the resulting complexities and challenges, the entire solution is conveniently provided by one supplier - in this respect Esker is the ultimate convenience ‘One Stop Shop’ for an end-to-end software solution.”
